

B & R wins 10th Oilmen's spiel

The B & R Eckels rink skipped by Victor Rocque swept home to victory in the First Event of the 10th Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Bonspiel on Sunday, with a packed viewing area totally ignoring the televised Super Bowl in favor of the live curling action.

The second place Universal rink kept the action exciting right up to the final rock, when they ricocheted off one of their own rocks to become shot, but only gained a single point rather than the two they would have needed to force an extra end.

Oilmen's organizers Lyle Yerama and Russ Hebblethwaite agreed this year's bonspiel was their "best ever." With a full slate of 48 rinks competing, they reluctantly turned away nine other entries. The outstanding response and the positive feedback from participants has led the organizers to expect an equally successful event in August, when they hold their 10th Annual Golf Tournament.

The Oilmen's Association is very active in Elk Point, and provides donations to a number of worthy groups. Several of these groups helped out during the weekend, with F. G. Miller High students taking care of the ice, the Scouting Association providing taxi service and the Broncos Hockey Team running the smoker. All will receive donations for their efforts. The community's stores and services also enjoyed the spinoff of additional business over the weekend, with close to 200 curlers and numerous spectators in town for the well attended event.

Town reverting to Lakeland logo

The Town of Elk Point is going back to their pre-Bicentennial logo featuring a majestic pike encircling a lake scene. The Peter Fidler pin design, which proved very popular with residents and tourists alike, will soon become a collector's item as they are discontinued when the present supply is exhausted. Council voted unanimously to return to the logo which has long been associated with Elk Point and its position at the 'gateway to the lakeland.'

The final report on the Bicentennial has been presented to Council. Council also

National BPOE leader to visit

Joe Calder of Plenty, Saskatchewan, the national leader of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada, will be visiting Elk Point Elks Lodge No. 460 this evening to attend their regular meeting.

Grand Exalted Ruler Calder has been a BPOE member since 1968, and was the Provincial President of the Saskatchewan BPOE in 1984-85, and the Grand Lodge Chaplain the following year. He is a farmer with a wife and three children.

received a request to photocopy ten copies of the report for distribution to other municipalities in the area. The Town has provided photocopying for the Project throughout the Bicentennial, but one member of Council felt it was time to call a halt to this. However, the balance of Council outvoted him and the photocopying will be done.

Alberta Economic Development will be in attendance at Council's next meeting to make a presentation regarding the North East Alberta Marketplace. Communities from Grand Centre to Highway 16 are coming together to hire a joint development officer for the region on a per capita basis, with the Province paying a share in the two year pilot project. Council narrowly passed a motion to take part, with Elk Point's share being approximately $1300.

Elk Point's new Garbage Bylaw was given third reading at last Monday's meeting, while first and second readings were given to the new Community Services Board Bylaw.

Elaine Babenek has been appointed to the Elk Point Library Board.

Administrator Curt Svendsen will be the new back-up representative for the Regional Tourism Action Plan, replacing former councillor Adele Mandryk.

The Chamber of Commerce request for a $2000 operating grant has been sent to the Finance Committee for their consideration.

A recommendation by the Community Services Board to have a Certified Building Inspector inspect the Community Services Centre Building was also sent to committee. The Utilities Committee will review the pros and cons of having this done, to the tune of $3000.

Another resolution from Community Services dealt with having a non-voting member from the town's senior population sit on the Board, however the Town did not wish to create another position on the Board. However, Vera Romanchuk will be invited to bring seniors-related concerns to the Board when the need arises.

It was agreed that the Town grader could be used to clear the road at the landfill site when necessary, with cost to be shared with the County of St. Paul, because the County does not always have a grader in the area when the road needs plowing. A problem with this was noted regarding Saturday use of the landfill site.

A fee of $25 for a ten yard load has been set for those hauling rubble, etc. to the landfill site, this sum to be shared with the County. If it is necessary to open the landfill on an off day, an additional $25 will be charged, and will be retained by the Town.

Would-be landfill users from outside of the County or Town will be advised that the site is only for County and Town users. Their licence plate number and name will be taken, and a charge of $25 will be levied for the load they wish to dump. A sign will be erected at the landfill stating that the site is for County and Town of Elk Point residents only.

Family Day weekend full of activities

A weekend filled with activities for the entire family is what Elk Point has in mind for the Family Day weekend, February 13 to 15. "Families Make a World of Difference" is the theme for Family Day 1993, and the weekend will be devoted to acknowledging the importance of the family unit and its contribution not only to its members, but to the communities they live in and to the quality of life in this province.

A number of groups are getting involved in Elk Point's list of activities.

On Saturday, February 13, Elk Point Baptist Church has invited all their members to take part in a Curling Funspiel from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The Elk Point Curling Club is donating free ice time to the general public that evening from 7 to 9 p.m., so families can try their hand at curling.

Saturday afternoon will be a fulfilled time at Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre, where there will be winter activities from 1 to 4 p.m. Bring your skis, sleds and snowshoes and they will provide the hot chocolate to drink around the bonfire. There will even be a snowman making contest.

Later that evening, the scene shifts to the Seniors' Recreation Centre for the Friends of the Forts Fur Trappers' Ball, with a banquet reminiscent of the fur trade days and live - and lively - music to dance to. A prize will be awarded to the family best dressed in Fur Trade garb. The Friends will also hold their Volunteer Appreciation Ceremonies at this time.

THERE ARE STILL A LIMITED AMOUNT OF TICKETS AVAILABLE, so don't

Our Past

Steve Andrishak

Many of you still remember when radio was one of our main sources of entertainment. Many happy hours were spent listening to a variety of programs which were made available by the many broadcasting stations throughout Canada and the United States.

Radio first became popular during the early 1920s. At that time, vast improvements had been made in transmitting sound waves by the broadcasting stations that were in operation. Soon after, hundreds of thousands of radio sets started flooding the market. In 1926, sales of radio sets and parts alone in the United States and Canada topped half a billion dollars. Suddenly it seemed that everyone owned a radio set.

During the following years, a wide variety of entertaining radio programs began making their runs. One program, the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, had a continuous run of 29 years - other programs also had long runs that played to large audiences.

One of radio's first big comedy hits was the Amos 'n' Andy show which started its run in 1929. The radio stars of this program were Amos, Andy, Kingfish and Madam Queen. Some lines this program aired were "Ise regusted" and "Ain't dat sumpin." These were popular catch phrases in the 1930s. Originally it was a minstrel show that featured a number of characters who blackened their faces and imitated colored folks. This radio program proved to be highly entertaining and had a large audience in both the United States and Canada. Andy, who was one of the main characters of this show, was often referred to as the President of the Fresh Air Taxi Cab Incorporated.

Other popular radio programs of this period were: The Rudy Vallee Show which was first aired in 1929, the Bing Crosby Show which made its debut in 1931, and the Jack Benny Show aired in 1932. Soon after, Al Jolson became the performing star on Kraft Music Hall. In 1934, the Red Skelton Show first appeared on radio, followed by the Lux Radio Theatre and the Fibber McGee and Molly Show in 1935. In 1938 the Bob Hope Show made its debut on radio.

About this time, many soap operas started making their runs. They were called soap operas because they were sponsored by the major soap makers. The Goldbergs were sponsored by the makers of Oxydol, Life Can Be Beautiful by the Ivory Soap Co. and Road of Life by the makers of Chipso.

There were many other popular programs on radio during the 1930s and 1940s. Many of you will recall the Edgar Bergen Show (ventriloquism) featuring Bergen's two wooden dummies, Charley McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd. Other popular programs at the time were The March of Time, We The People, The Green Hornet, The Lone Ranger, Tarzan The Apeman, Big Sister, Ma Perkins, Lum and Abner, and the Chase and Sandborn Hour.

One of the well-known Canadian radio programs was The Happy Gang, featuring Bert Pearl, Eddie Allen, Kay Stokes and Blaine Mathie. It was a daily musical program that originated in Toronto. Another well known Canadian program was Don Messer and His Islanders, which also featured Charley Chamberlain and Marg Osborne.

The broadcasting of major sporting events became popular during the 1920s. The first World Series (baseball) was broadcast in 1921. It was a series between the New York Yankees and the New York Giants. Also in 1921, the first major boxing match was aired. It featured Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, a bout that took place in Jersey City, N.J. In 1922, Foster Hewitt made the world's first hockey broadcast.

Musical programs were also popular during the 1920s and 1930s. One program, The Hit Parade, rated the top tunes of the day. Radio was very popular during the war years of 1939-1945, when hourly newscasts kept us informed as to how our armed forces were progressing.

Radio, throughout the years, has provided us with countless hours of entertainment. People in outlying areas found radio not only entertaining but it also helped to lessen their many hours of loneliness. When television first appeared, newspaper headlines declared that radio would soon die, however that was not the case. Millions of radio sets are still being sold annually throughout the world, which proves that radio is still very much alive and is still rated as one of our more popular forms of entertainment.

EPSRA distancing rural community from objection

To The Editor:

The Elk Point Surface Rights Association is writing to Amoco's President to distance the agricultural community around Elk Point from the remarks contained in the objection by the local Agricultural Society to Amoco's Phase 2 project.

The Ag Society is trying to file an objection with the ERCB against this project, but for reasons known only to them, they addressed their objection to the president of Amoco instead.

The remarks contained in this objection against Amoco senior management are an embarrassment to the whole Elk Point community and a disgrace to the people responsible for them.

The EPSRA disagrees completely with the Ag Society's interpretations of Mr. Lounds' efforts to resolve the differences between Amoco and the impacted agricultural community. Bruce Lounds is Amoco's General Manager whom the Ag Society decided to target.

Thanks to Bruce Lounds most of the issues between Amoco and the impacted landowners have been resolved.

Because of his efforts, the EPSRA is looking forward to a period of improved relations with Amoco, as it enjoys with the other oil companies in the area. But this, maybe, does not fit with the plans of some people in the Ag Society.

The agriculture industry had, still has and will always have, differences with the oil industry operating on the same land. But these differences are always resolved in a businesslike and gentlemanly manner. There is no need of the questionable tactics resorted to by this recreational group.

The EPSRA joins Amoco and other responsible members of this community to have the ERCB throw out the Ag Society's objection.

The first thought that came to mind on hearing the contents of the Elk Point Ag Society objection to Amoco's Phase 2 Project was the English playwright's verse regarding a meaningless story told by a clown in one of his comic plays. He referred to it as a "tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

This very well describes this town-based recreational group's effort to stall an oil related project within the agricultural community south of Elk Point. It is hollow.

At the time of writing, the Energy Resources Conservation Board had not as yet accepted, [much] less registered this objection. As such, I will not touch on the merits of the contents of this objection. I limit myself to comment on the amateurish presentation and possible motive. If and when the ERCB considers this objection, I am sure the Directors of the Ag Society will receive an adequate lecture why most of the eleven points they raised in it have nothing to do with the Phase 2 Project and why the rest of the points are outside the jurisdiction of the Board.

The objection is in a form of a letter to the President of Amoco with a copy to every Tom, Dick and Harry they could think of. In the letter, they seem to be asking the ERCB to deny the Amoco project although only a copy of the letter is addressed to the ERCB. Because of this and other technical errors, the ERCB is being asked to throw it out. That could be the best thing to happen. It will save a lot of embarrassment to this community.

The Ag Society has been a major recipient of handouts and donations from the oil companies. Besides, many of its directors or their relatives depend on the oil activity in the area for their livelihood. It is difficult to find the motive why such people [may] be cutting their own throats in the first place by opposing this oil related project. None of them are negatively impacted by it. Secondly, why find concerns with it now, a year after the closing date to file objections? The reasons they are giving for delaying this project were there a year ago. This excuse of an objection could only be considered an obstructive move to meet somebody's personal agenda.

If the ERCB does not throw this insipid objection out, the Ag Society will be left with two alternatives. Either withdraw now or go to a public hearing. If they are foolish enough to push for a public hearing, the community will find out the true motives for this "sound and fury" and who are the real "clowns" responsible for this "tale signifying nothing."

These people are aware that they are coming to the end of their act. They must have decided to start digging their own grave. The hole they are preparing is larger than what they need. Innocent members of the community should be careful not to join them in it.

New Books

You be the judge in another spellbinding new book by Stephen King, Dolores Claiborne. The citizens of Little Tall Island wanted to know if Dolores Claiborne murdered her husband thirty years ago. Now the police want to know what happened yesterday, when rich, bedridden Vera Donovan, the Island's grande dame and Dolores' longtime employer, dies suddenly in her care.

adulthood on the vast, empty prairies, to Toronto, where her aunt encourages her to join the Japanese Canadian fight to right the wrong that was inflicted on them during the second World War.

Fredrick Forsyth writes a story of a young fighter pilot in his most desperate hour of need, a tale of suspense and hope in this novel, The Shepherd.

For our juvenile readers, we have A Cat of Artimus Pride by Alberta author Hazel Hutchins. Claire Ross, 11 years old, is busy building an unusual float for the Heritage Day Parade when she realizes she is having a conversation with a hundred year old cat named Cortez.

HABIAK, Annie

Mrs. Annie Habiak of Elk Point passed away peacefully at the Elk Point Municipal Hospital on Sunday, January 31, 1993 at the age of 84 years. She departs this life as she lived it, with dignity, courage and as an inspiration to those she leaves behind. She was predeceased by her husband John on June 21, 1976; 7 brothers and 3 sisters. Annie touched many lives with her generosity and kindness. She taught us love, compassion, and caring. Her wealth of knowledge will always linger in our hearts. Prayer Service Thursday, February 4 at Yewchin's Funeral Chapel, St. Paul. Funeral Service Friday, February 5 at 2:00 p.m. at the Elk Point United Church, Elk Point, Reverend Sam Donaldson officiating, with interment in the Elk Point East Cemetery. New coach for Lightning

Elk Point Bantam Lightning is a new team with a new coach. Pat Muzzeral is heartily welcomed to Elk Point Minor Hockey by the team, and thanks are extended to him for his volunteer time in coaching. The team consists of eleven players and has been very competitive this season, as well as looking good in their handsome new sweaters provided by sponsors, Woody's Trophy and Gift Shop.

Their season stats currently sit at 7 wins, 3 losses and 1 tie.

Lightning meets Lloydminster in the first round of Provincials, with the first game in Lloydminster on February 9 and the second in Elk Point on February 13 at 5 p.m. Coach Muzzeral, Assistant Coach Blaine Easthope, Trainer Henry Roscoe and Manager Ron Piotrowski ask one and all to come and support the team, as well as to enjoy some good hockey.

Elks hockey in brief

Elk Point Senior Elks had one big loss and one big win this week, as they head into their final week of the regular season. Their final game of that schedule is tonight at 8 p.m. in Paradise Valley.

Wednesday's make-up game against Neilburg Monarchs Wednesday night might better have been left unplayed, as they took a 9 - 3 drubbing. Kerry Loughran, George Ward and Greg Rheame scored for the Elks.

Sunday saw the Elks back on track, as Marwayne Comets were extinguished 14 to 6. Corey Laboucane scored four for the Elks, with three by Keith Campbell, two each by Kelly Harms and Dwayne Karbashewski and one each by Lindsay Jenner, Willie Lesyk and Greg Desaulniers.
